of the letter from the Political Stats Branch. NWF and requesting that the Names and addresses of Teachers or Professors who are recommended may be communicated to the Resy.

288. In Baluchistan, the TRO has recommended the creation of a Career Master in each High School whose duty would be to keep readily available all possible information about employment openings particularly under Govt & the proposal might be extended subsequently also to Colleges. The Resident recommends this proposal to other States and requests to intimate the Names & addresses of Teachers or Professors, so that they may be regularly supplied with information individually.
The NWF Letter states that it is Not proposed to distribute these pamphlets existing in Stats from which substantial recruitments are Not to be expected. As such a Career Master in each School seems to be unnecessary. Perhaps the DO may be required to recommend a Select few teachers of important High Schools for the purpose.

Copy of a demi-official letter from the Indian States Branch, H.E.F., No.F.141-5/45, dated the 24th November, 1943.

A good deal of recruiting publicity material is now being turned out in General Headquarters by the special branch which deals with this subject. It has been found that there is little or no systematic distribution of this material in Indian States. While it is not desired to push recruiting in Indian States in any way so as to embarrass those responsible for recruiting for State Forces, it is felt that information about the conditions of employment in the war Services in British India, especially in Commissioned Ranks or in Specialised Services, ought to be readily available in States to those interested.

2. Some of the material which is produced is of general war publicity interest; some of it is mainly designed to explain in some detail the conditions of service, pay etc. in different branches of the Armed Forces.

3. It is felt that the material of general war interest could best be distributed so as to make copies available for libraries, reading rooms, institutions such as colleges and larger schools, and to State officials who come in special contact with the public, particularly those directly or indirectly engaged in war work. For the second class, i.e. pamphlets explaining conditions of service, it would be sufficient if enough copies for distribution to selected State officials were made available In the second class of pamphlets, a few special cases will arise in which the service concerned is a very small one and unlikely to appeal to the general public. In such cases a restricted circulation to major States only would appear to be desirable.

4. I enclose suggested distribution lists for this material showing the figures separately for general war interest pamphlets and recruiting pamphlets of wider interest and of limited interest. In general we do not propose to a very wide distribution in States from which substantial recruitment is not to be expected. In some areas it might be considered desirable to differentiate between recruiting material for Combatant and Non-Combatant Services.

5. In British India the Technical Recruiting Officers, under the Labour Deptt., have recommended the creation of a Career Master in each high school, whose duty would be to keep readily available all possible information about employment openings, particularly under Government. Possible the Hon'ble the Resident would like to recommend this proposal to States for consideration. It might be extended suitably also to colleges, both Government and private. If the addresses of any such masters or professors are communicated to this office we will undertake to keep them regularly supplied individually with information about posts open under the Labour Department or the Army in British India, and will approach other authorities to obtain similar information about appointments.

6. I enclose 25 copies each of three examples of this kind of material. The pamphlet entitled "TEN YEARS OLD" is one which I class as of general war interest. The two pamphlets "INDIA [illegible]" and "INDIAN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS" are typical recruiting pamphlets of the wider interest type including as they do terms of appointment for Non-Commissioned ranks.
